September 2016

We started school in August.

take over creating Scripture Apps in different languages when he's gone.

Please also pray for my students as they transition into a new school routine with their mom as their full time teacher. They're all going to do great, but it's a very big adjustment. Already, we've begun making some small changes to our daily schedule to help ease the transition.

Dear Friends and Supporters,

The first week of our new school year is in the books. My students have successfully advanced to grades 3, 5, 7, and 8, and although our summer break was only four weeks long, the first thing my fifth grader said to me after the break was, "Aunt Christina, we really missed doing school while you were gone."

Chris and I spent our vacation in Ohio and Illinois visiting family and celebrating my brother's wedding, where I was pleased to participate as Bridesmaid #7. We danced and ate cake. It was lovely.

While we were in the U.S., a church in Iowa contacted us about inviting Chris to join them as their pastor, which they have now officially done. We have felt prayerfully led to accept this Call, and so we are preparing to leave Ghana and to move to Iowa in these next few months. Please pray for us as we pack some things and sell others, as we say goodbye to our friends and work here, and as we prepare to move into this new ministry.

Please pray for Chris as he transitions out of his work at the Ghana Institute of Linguistics, Literacy, and Bible Translation (GILLBT) and leaves the work with his colleagues there. Over the next few weeks, he'll be helping his colleagues learn more about the Scripture App Builder

we've mentioned before so they can

My 3rd grader's snails

Unfortunately for my third grader, these schedule changes mean she now takes her morning snack break by herself instead of with her brother. "From now on," she sighed, "I have to spend snack time with my snails."

It's a bitter-sweet transition for all of us. Thank you so much for every way you support us and our work. We hope you are well.

In His grip,
Chris and Christina

We attended GILLBT's Annual General Meeting in July. Do you see us in the back?

Our Upcoming Transition

A church in Iowa has Called Chris to be their pastor, and we've accepted the Call. We'll be transitioning out of Ghana and our work with LBT over the next few months.

LBT does an excellent job of helping missionaries transition from their work overseas back to life in America. To help pay for furniture, doctor visits, or anything else we may need, we'll continue to receive our salary and benefits for 3 months after our last day with LBT.

Therefore, we're asking that you please continue to send your support to LBT for us until January 31, 2017. The money for our salary and benefits comes from your donations.

Even though God has called us into new ministry, we still know how important the work of LBT is. We hope that you will prayerful consider continuing to support LBT through other missionaries who will carry on after our departure.

In our next letter to you, we'll share more about our transition and introduce you to other LBT missionaries in need of your support.

We've been so blessed to work in this ministry with you. Thanks for being part of the team.
